Abraham Lincoln - February 12, 1809 – April 15, 1865

Abraham Lincoln, the 16th President of the United States, was born on February 12, 1809, in a log cabin in Hardin County, Kentucky. He grew up in a poor family, faced the loss of his mother at a young age, and received little formal education. Despite these challenges, Lincoln's thirst for knowledge led him to study law and become a successful lawyer. He entered politics and served in the Illinois State Legislature and the U.S. House of Representatives before being elected as President in 1860.

Lincoln's presidency was dominated by the American Civil War, which began just weeks after he took office. He guided the nation through its darkest hour, issuing the Emancipation Proclamation in 1863, which declared slaves in Confederate-held territory to be free. Lincoln's leadership during the war helped preserve the Union and end slavery in America. Tragically, Lincoln's life was cut short when he was assassinated by John Wilkes Booth on April 14, 1865, at Ford's Theatre in Washington, D.C. He died the following day, on April 15, 1865, leaving a lasting legacy as one of America's greatest presidents.
